

Alvin W. Dare

June 29, 2024

Alvin Warren Dare, age 87, of Upper Pittsgrove Township, NJ passed away on June 29, 2024. Born in Woodbury to the late Dallas Clyde and Elizabeth Mae (Senor) Dare, Alvin grew up in East Pitman and was a 1955 graduate of Glassboro High School. Alvin and his wife Carol were married in March of 1959. In the early 2000's they relocated to Salem County to be closer to their family.

Alvin began his career working as a meat cutter at the age of 14 at DuBrink's Market (now Trim-Rite Meats) in Hurffville. He would retire from Pathmark which became Shop Rite in Millville at the age of 50. During his career he also started his own business called South Jersey Truck Cleaning for about 8 years. After retirement, he started his second business as a nurseryman. He worked closely in the nursery business with his late brother Robert. They enjoyed their time together on weekly and sometimes daily plant deliveries and plain spending time together.

Alvin's first love was his beloved wife and family. He attended his kids & grandkids school activities to cheer them on. He would play tag football in his side yard with his kids, niece & nephews when he was younger. Family was always his first priority. Alvin's second love was hunting. His father introduced him to hunting deer in the Pinelands, at the age of 9. Hunting trips as an adult included bear in Maine, antelope in Colorado and Wyoming and fishing in the Outer Banks of North Carolina. His love of the Pinelands followed him through his life, even as recently as a few months ago when he drove his beloved Carol to the woods for a full day of fun and navigating the mud puddles.

Alvin is survived by his loving wife of 65 years, Carol F. Dare (nee Willard); his son Alvin Dallas Dare and his wife Diane; his daughter Debbie A. Duffield and her husband Roy; his grandchildren George A. Duffield and his wife Kristin, Emily J. Carll and her husband Luke, Dallas M. Duffield and his wife Jessica L. Paulding, Megan N. Dare and her fiancé Zhaonan, Ross M. Dare and his fiancé Alyson and Harry L. Duffield; and his great grandchildren Julia, Lincoln, Jack and Ari. Alvin had an older brother, Robert Dallas Dare (deceased) and his wife Dorothy. He also has a niece and 3 nephews.
