“ I taught Jeremy in 7th grade. He gave me a gold tone globe pencil sharpener that I still have to this day as well as a picture that he drew and initialed. He always ready smile and I really liked him. I was so excited to have his son Chase in my class. Like his Dad, Chase is brilliant and unique in a very awesome way. I now have Ethan who reminds me so much of his Dad at that age. I really enjoyed seeing Jeremy at conferences and at Chase’s graduation. My deepest condolences to Jeremy’s parents and children. I’m so sorry for what’s happened and that I wasn’t at the service. I only learned of it the day after. Jeremy was a great guy and I will miss him.
