“ I just read her book, "Fighting for the Finish." I loved it! It was so well written and very inspirational. I, too, have been through some tough years but God was always faithful! I Googled her, excited to meet her, but, sadly, was led here. I am so sorry of her passing; however, I am thrilled to know I will meet her someday in His Kingdom. God Bless you, Dan, and family.

“ Jilly was one of my greatest friends at WDHS.

Whenever I saw Jilly in the hallway, the greetings we exchanged were always so pleasant and joyous. Out of Jilly's mouth was always a "Hi Girlfriend." Being in the same classroom as Jilly was always a pleasure. The way she cared for her students was so wonderful to see. There were plenty of times that Jilly would set me aside to pray for my mother. We both cried, while standing there, holding hands, just praying. Jilly, you will be greatly missed.

Danny, thanks for also being a great friend and for looking out for me always. Remember, I am here if you need me for anything.

Love you both. And Jilly, please seek out my mom. You two will be awesome friends.

“ I still remember the day I was walking across the parking lot towards the dorm at York College when this spitfire of a young woman, Jill, introduced herself to me and a friendship was born. It turned out she lived on the same floor as me, and soon Jill, Judy, Lori and I formed a bond that would last a lifetime. My life changed that day and I am forever grateful for that chance encounter. I still can't believe we only spent one year together, as the stories and adventures seem endless! Every time I think of Jill, I think of laughter and sunshine. Her smile and laughter was contagious, and you couldn't have a bad day when she was around!

One Summer, many years later, I called her on a whim to see if my husband, granddaughter and I could stop by the farm for a visit because we were traveling through New Jersey. She said yes, of course, although she had riding lessons and would have to work with her students. A van pulled up and multiple students arrived and we had the pleasure of seeing her work. I remember being in AWE! We watched her calm someone who was very scared about putting on a helmet, let alone riding a horse. She never gave up, and eventually the young man, with helmet on, rode that horse with a huge smile on his face, It was a beautiful sight! Jill will be missed by everyone who knew her, but remembered by all, too. She followed her dreams, made them a reality and changed a lot of lives. She accomplished a lot in a short time and made this world a better place, a brighter place. I will miss her dearly.

My condolences to Dan and the rest of her family. May you find solace in knowing she is pain free and by God's side.

“ Jill, Judy, Steph and I met freshman year of college. Going separate ways after that semester, that one semester together, turned into a life long friendship between us. Getting together, from three or four different states, at least once a year was a must. So for 40 years we grew up together. Time spent together was always full of laughs. Jill was the ring leader for sure. Her laugh, her stories and adventures always priceless. And her heart the biggest! Covid prevent our get together last year and Jill's health derailed any plans this year. So we will meet again on Monday with the heaviest hearts. Hearts full of thanks for all the memories, laughs, friendship and love Jill brought to our lives. An absolutely precious person so glad entered our lives. Rest in peace dear friend, you will never be forgotten.

“ I sought out a hobby during quarantine, and decided to fulfill a childhood dream-horse-riding. I began searching for an equestrian farm to begin my riding journey. I felt an instant connection when I read about how Jill's approach to horse riding was not to master the horse, but to be a master of connecting with them. It was then when I decided that I only wanted Jill to be my trainer.

She became more than that. She became a mentor and a friend. An extraordinary woman who wanted to see me ride to perfection, while transforming me into the best version of myself that I could possibly be. The Mansor farm became a place of comfort and solace for me, and I always found myself gravitating towards the aura that Jill radiated to anyone and everyone.

I still ride, Jill. I ride with you in mind and in heart. As I am riding my horse, I feel you riding Raise Your Dreams at last.

“ I was fortunate enough to have known Jill since our freshman year in college. Outgoing, friendly, energetic, compassionate, and always fighting for the underdog are just a few of Jill's attributes. Her smile and laugh were contagious, and we shared many adventures together. Jill was a great communicator, easy to talk to and genuinely interested in people and strangers she met. I will miss Jill greatly, and know how blessed I am to have known her-

“ You were only 18 months older than me, but always in charge! Telling me what to do, how to do it, and when to do it. You were always going to be a teacher, a natural born leader. You were strong, determined, and stubborn. You achieved so much in such a short time.

The memories come flooding in now that you are gone. From playing "kick the can" on warm summer nights, building a fort in the woods, spending summers at our neighborhood pool where we would ride our bikes to swim team, stay afterwards playing outside the pool gates waiting for the pool to re-open at noon, splashing and swimming the rest of the day and eating dinner at night on the picnic tables and then closing the pool at 9 pm. 12 hours never went so fast. We loved spending our Summer weekends at Pot-Nets, swimming in the ocean and boogie boarding, boardwalk strolls, going on the amusement rides, waterskiing, riding motorcycles in the tar pits, and just having fun. Our adventures never seemed to have limits.

Your infectious laugh and beautiful smile, Jill, you will be missed by all who knew you, especially by me! I love you!

Love, Janis

“ I have been jill mansor's sister for the last 54 years. She was the kind of sister that always cared about her family. She had a big heart was there for everyone and anyone. My biggest memory of her is when we would go to the goodwill outlet and then we would stop at portofino's for our usual lunch which was pizza a side salad two unsweetened teas with lemon. We would just sit there and talk about whatever was going on in our lives and then we would reminisce about our childhood. That is what I'm going to miss the most spending that quality time with my big sister. She hated being called the big sister she always thought that she was younger than me. Jill you will forever be in my heart and I will see you again. Love you jody

“ Jill was my wife for 18 years. I thanked God for that every day. She was an amazing person and I will greatly miss her. However, I know I will see her again one day in heaven. She made all feel welcomed in our home. She did not just talk the talk, but she walked the walk of Christian charity and love.
